

Supporting Association FACT SHEET

The Automotive Service Association is the largest not-for-profit trade association of its kind dedicated to and governed by independent automotive service and repair professionals.

Publications

Supporting Associations receive a digital subscription to AutInc. magazine, the official publication of ASA. AutInc. is well-respected in the industry and provides management and technical features for both mechanical and collision repair professionals.

Government Representation

ASA maintains a fully staffed office in Washington, D.C., and has a representative serving on behalf of its members and the automotive repair industry. It is part of ASA's mission to be the industry's watchdog, protecting its future. As a Supporting Association, you are supporting this important activity.

Industry Training

Training is one of the industry's biggest challenges. As a Supporting Association, you can help by contributing training information as well as receiving it.

You also have opportunities to participate in courses held by the Automotive Management Institute (AMi), where you can receive training on topics tailored to the automotive industry and earn AMi's Accredited Automotive Manager (AAM) designation. Get 20 percent off AMi online training as a member.

Meetings & Events

ASA and its Affiliates sponsor several meetings and events throughout the year on both national and local levels. These include regional events such as the ASA Northwest ATE Expo, ASA Colorado Summit, ASA Pennsylvania Super Saturday and others. National events include

NACE Automechanika, CARS, MSO Symposium and Technology & Telematics Forum.

The ASA Annual Business Meeting is open to all ASA members and includes technical and business management training, an ASA National Board meeting, ASA Affiliate meeting and ASA's Celebration of Excellence. The Annual Business Meeting provides the opportunity for our members to meet with ASA leadership at the national and affiliate levels, along with sponsorship opportunities.

TTF & MSO

The Technology and Telematics Forum (TTF) is the leading program for the mechanical and collision repair segments to address key questions relating to new vehicle technology and current data access and cybersecurity solutions.

The MSO Symposium is led and attended by experienced, high-growth executives from the leading Multi-shop Operations (MSOs) within North America. The event is limited to insurers, OEMs, multi-shop operators and single-location repair facilities with revenue exceeding $3 million in annual sales. The one-day event provides an in-depth opportunity to gain further information on business sustainability and growth by MSOs.
